and his sojourn here some two years ago, is not yet forgotten by the community. Our folks to windward have a treat in store on his appearance MR. ELI JOHNSON, lectured again at Fort Street was entitled "Midnight Scenes by Gaslight in Europe and America—The Curse and Cure." This gentleman proceeds by the Likelike on Thursday next to Hilo, and it is expected that he will deliver another address in Honolulu after his return be fore leaving for Australia. It was stated at the Y. M. C. A. monthly meeting that the Prohibition Bill had been drafted by Mr. Hartwell for the Planters' Labor and Sup-ply Company, and that the arrival of Mr. Rice was awaited, he having promised to introduce it in the Assembly. The petitions on the subject which have recently been signed are to be presented all together, along with those from other islands, when the Bill is about to be introduced.

AHUNA, who was some little time ago charged with selling liquor without a license at his store at Waialua, and acquitted, appeared before Judge Bickerton on Saturday on a similar charge. After hearing the story given by one witness Deputy-Marshal Dayton, who conducted the prosecution, said that he should tender no further evidence as he was satisfied he should not secure a conviction. The accused was therefore discharged. An express driver had a narrow escape from a bad accident yesterday morning in Merchant street.

The horse he was driving became fractious, reared and kicked, and nearly bucked himself out of the harness. To avoid a runaway the driver run his vehicle into the post in front of Messrs. J. W. Robinson and Co.'s store. The idea proved successful, but involved the smashing of both shafts. The driver was thrown out, and somewhat badly bruised, but fortunately sustained no serious in JUST as the steamer Iwalani was leaving Maalaea bay on her return trip a woman jumped overboard, apparently with the intention of swimming ashore. A boat was lowered and she was got on board again. She was newly married and went to Maui last week on a wedding trip with her husband. There she saw some one whom she liked better. Hence the the attempted swim. She had already caused a good deal of trouble while on shore and had to be locked up for her conduct-at least it is so reported. This ounds like a happy beginning of married life. THE buildings which formed the Hotel Stables have all disappeared; the last of them was converted into old lumber on Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Fessler commenced work at the Artesian well about 4 P. another, by being carried to Court in a chair. Since then matters have progressed favorably. The failure of the prosecutions against Ahuna for lling liquor without a license illustrate the difficulty of dealing with this class of cases. It is quite notorious among people who live at the other end of this island that this man has, for a long time, been engaged in the liquor traffic, yet the police have hitherto been unable to secure the evidence necessary to convict him in a Court of law. If the law obliged every storekeeper to account for the liquor he imports or purchases in the same strict way that, in New Zealand, every man who deals in it has to account for gunpowder, some check on illicit liquor-selling might be arrived at.

EVERYTHING appears to have gone well with the scheme for raising money for the Honolulu Library by means of a Loan Exhibition, The idea was re ceived with favor as soon as mooted, and a most energetic and indefatigable complittee of ladies and gentlenen took it up with enthusiasm. Their ef-forts were liberally seconded by the public, all who were appealed to, lending ungrudginly those things whose beauty or rarity or peculiarity were likely to render them attractive exhibits. When opened the Exhibition immediately seized on the popular favor, and the receipts which reached the sum of (in round numbers $2,600) considerably exceeded the most sanguine expectations of the pro-motors. Finally all the exhibits have been safely returned to their owners, nothing has been damaged, and nothing lost notwithstanding the fact that the rooms in which the Exhibition was held were nightly crowded beyond their fair holding capacity. The Committee of the Exhibition are to be congratulated on such a complete success. In this connection omission ought not to be made of the fact that it was not only to those who "but that the Loan Exhibition was indebted for its pecuniary excess. The gifts of Messrs. Hart Bros H. J. Nolte and F. Horn to the refreshment department represent a very considerable sum. Mr. Horn's cake was raffled for $150, and as to the supplies from the Astor House and the Beaver Saloc the ladies may be said to have had everything they wanted for the refreshment department without stint and without pay. Things were ordered with the idea that they were to be paid for but these liberal souled caterers would take no pay from these

From a private letter, received by the mail from James W. Austin, Esq., we are permitted to take the following extract: "I was recently at Washington where I found Judge Allen doing all that possibly can be done for the treaty. I do not believe the U. S. Government will give the notice required for the abrogation of the Treaty.' We are indebted to His Excellency, the Minister of the Interior, for the following information just received from Mr. Hoffnung under date, London. April 27th: "Steamship Monarch sailed 11th inst. from the Azores with 203 men, 198 women and 84 minors, all contracted. One or two steamers will follow soon. Send further orders promptly, availing present favorable disposition. The news about Ireland is of more than usual interest; to say nothing of the shocking murder of the newly-appointed Chief Secretary. Lord Frederick Cavendish, of which some account is given in the letter of our San Francisco correspondent. The Government has released Parnell and two other Land-leaguers and is about to try a policy of conciliation instead of coercion. We give in another column. Gladstone's explanation of the situation. Lord Frederick Cavendish who succeeded Forster as Chief Secretary, was member for the West Riding of Yorkshire (North Division.) Forster, in explaining his retirement, said he could not agree to release the suspects unless he got from them a publie understanding to cease opposing the execution of the law. As he could not obtain that, he could not remain in office. He would have released the suspects if Ireland had been quiet or if the Government had had full powers, but he could not agree to an unconditional surrender.
